

The Elections To-Day.

Elections take place to-day in Indiana, Ohio, and West Virginia.

In Indiana, State officers, members of the Forty-fifth Congress, two representatives to fill vacancies in the Forty-fourth Congress, members of the Legislature, and town and county officers will be chosen. There are three State tickets in the field—the Republican, Democratic, and Independent (green-back). The Independent candidate for Governor, ANSON WOLCOTT, has withdrawn his candidacy, but the rest of the ticket for State officers and Congress is yet in nomination, except perhaps in one congressional district. But it would not surprise us if all were withdrawn yesterday or to-day.

The Republican candidate for Governor is BENJAMIN HARRISON, the Democratic candidate for the same office is JAMES D. WILLIAMS, better known as "BLUE JEANS." Below we give the Republican and Democratic nominees for Congress. The vacancy in the Second district was caused by the resignation of JAMES D. WILLIAMS, the Democratic nominee for Governor; the Third district vacancy was occasioned by the death of Speaker MICHAEL C. KERR:

45th Con.	Republican.	Democratic.
1st.	C. A. De Bruin.	B. S. Fuller.
2nd.	Louis Lovess.	Thos. B. Cobb.
3rd.	J. B. Newsum.	G. A. Bicknell.
4th.	L. Sexton.	L. J. Woolen.
5th.	C. M. Brown.	S. S. Bolman.
6th.	M. S. Robinson.	D. Chambers.
7th.	J. John Hanna.	F. Landers.
8th.	M. E. McLean.	W. E. McLean.
9th.	M. D. White.	G. McWilliams.
10th.	W. H. Calkins.	W. Haymond.
11th.	J. James L. Crane.	Armstrong.
12th.	W. A. Bonham.	A. Hamilton.
13th.	J. John Barker.	Freeman Kelley.
14th.	(Vac.) Specially.	A. Humphreys.
15th.	(Vac.) Nathan T. Carr.

The vote of Indiana in past years is given below. It will be noticed that in October, 1858, the Republican majority for Governor was 8,611 smaller than for President in November following. In October, 1872, the Democratic majority for Governor was 1,148, and the Republican majority on the congressional vote was 958; two months later the Republican majority over all for President was 21,008. In 1872 the Democrats elected only the Governor and Superintendent of Public Instruction.

The vote of Ohio in past years is given below. It will be noticed that in October, 1858, the Republican majority for Governor was 8,611 smaller than for President in November following. In October, 1872, the Democratic majority for Governor was 1,148, and the Republican majority on the congressional vote was 958; two months later the Republican majority over all for President was 21,008. In 1872 the Democrats elected only the Governor and Superintendent of Public Instruction.

The vote of West Virginia in past years is given below. It will be noticed that in October, 1858, the Republican majority for Governor was 8,611 smaller than for President in November following. In October, 1872, the Democratic majority for Governor was 1,148, and the Republican majority on the congressional vote was 958; two months later the Republican majority over all for President was 21,008. In 1872 the Democrats elected only the Governor and Superintendent of Public Instruction.

The vote of West Virginia in past years is given below. It will be noticed that in October, 1858, the Republican majority for Governor was 8,611 smaller than for President in November following. In October, 1872, the Democratic majority for Governor was 1,148, and the Republican majority on the congressional vote was 958; two months later the Republican majority over all for President was 21,008. In 1872 the Democrats elected only the Governor and Superintendent of Public Instruction.

The vote of West Virginia in past years is given below. It will be noticed that in October, 1858, the Republican majority for Governor was 8,611 smaller than for President in November following. In October, 1872, the Democratic majority for Governor was 1,148, and the Republican majority on the congressional vote was 958; two months later the Republican majority over all for President was 21,008. In 1872 the Democrats elected only the Governor and Superintendent of Public Instruction.

The vote of West Virginia in past years is given below. It will be noticed that in October, 1858, the Republican majority for Governor was 8,611 smaller than for President in November following. In October, 1872, the Democratic majority for Governor was 1,148, and the Republican majority on the congressional vote was 958; two months later the Republican majority over all for President was 21,008. In 1872 the Democrats elected only the Governor and Superintendent of Public Instruction.

The vote of West Virginia in past years is given below. It will be noticed that in October, 1858, the Republican majority for Governor was 8,611 smaller than for President in November following. In October, 1872, the Democratic majority for Governor was 1,148, and the Republican majority on the congressional vote was 958; two months later the Republican majority over all for President was 21,008. In 1872 the Democrats elected only the Governor and Superintendent of Public Instruction.

The vote of West Virginia in past years is given below. It will be noticed that in October, 1858, the Republican majority for Governor was 8,611 smaller than for President in November following. In October, 1872, the Democratic majority for Governor was 1,148, and the Republican majority on the congressional vote was 958; two months later the Republican majority over all for President was 21,008. In 1872 the Democrats elected only the Governor and Superintendent of Public Instruction.

The vote of West Virginia in past years is given below. It will be noticed that in October, 1858, the Republican majority for Governor was 8,611 smaller than for President in November following. In October, 1872, the Democratic majority for Governor was 1,148, and the Republican majority on the congressional vote was 958; two months later the Republican majority over all for President was 21,008. In 1872 the Democrats elected only the Governor and Superintendent of Public Instruction.

The vote of West Virginia in past years is given below. It will be noticed that in October, 1858, the Republican majority for Governor was 8,611 smaller than for President in November following. In October, 1872, the Democratic majority for Governor was 1,148, and the Republican majority on the congressional vote was 958; two months later the Republican majority over all for President was 21,008. In 1872 the Democrats elected only the Governor and Superintendent of Public Instruction.

The vote of West Virginia in past years is given below. It will be noticed that in October, 1858, the Republican majority for Governor was 8,611 smaller than for President in November following. In October, 1872, the Democratic majority for Governor was 1,148, and the Republican majority on the congressional vote was 958; two months later the Republican majority over all for President was 21,008. In 1872 the Democrats elected only the Governor and Superintendent of Public Instruction.

The vote of West Virginia in past years is given below. It will be noticed that in October, 1858, the Republican majority for Governor was 8,611 smaller than for President in November following. In October, 1872, the Democratic majority for Governor was 1,148, and the Republican majority on the congressional vote was 958; two months later the Republican majority over all for President was 21,008. In 1872 the Democrats elected only the Governor and Superintendent of Public Instruction.

The vote of West Virginia in past years is given below. It will be noticed that in October, 1858, the Republican majority for Governor was 8,611 smaller than for President in November following. In October, 1872, the Democratic majority for Governor was 1,148, and the Republican majority on the congressional vote was 958; two months later the Republican majority over all for President was 21,008. In 1872 the Democrats elected only the Governor and Superintendent of Public Instruction.

The vote of West Virginia in past years is given below. It will be noticed that in October, 1858, the Republican majority for Governor was 8,611 smaller than for President in November following. In October, 1872, the Democratic majority for Governor was 1,148, and the Republican majority on the congressional vote was 958; two months later the Republican majority over all for President was 21,008. In 1872 the Democrats elected only the Governor and Superintendent of Public Instruction.

The vote of West Virginia in past years is given below. It will be noticed that in October, 1858, the Republican majority for Governor was 8,611 smaller than for President in November following. In October, 1872, the Democratic majority for Governor was 1,148, and the Republican majority on the congressional vote was 958; two months later the Republican majority over all for President was 21,008. In 1872 the Democrats elected only the Governor and Superintendent of Public Instruction.

The vote of West Virginia in past years is given below. It will be noticed that in October, 1858, the Republican majority for Governor was 8,611 smaller than for President in November following. In October, 1872, the Democratic majority for Governor was 1,148, and the Republican majority on the congressional vote was 958; two months later the Republican majority over all for President was 21,008. In 1872 the Democrats elected only the Governor and Superintendent of Public Instruction.

The vote of West Virginia in past years is given below. It will be noticed that in October, 1858, the Republican majority for Governor was 8,611 smaller than for President in November following. In October, 1872, the Democratic majority for Governor was 1,148, and the Republican majority on the congressional vote was 958; two months later the Republican majority over all for President was 21,008. In 1872 the Democrats elected only the Governor and Superintendent of Public Instruction.

The vote of West Virginia in past years is given below. It will be noticed that in October, 1858, the Republican majority for Governor was 8,611 smaller than for President in November following. In October, 1872, the Democratic majority for Governor was 1,148, and the Republican majority on the congressional vote was 958; two months later the Republican majority over all for President was 21,008. In 1872 the Democrats elected only the Governor and Superintendent of Public Instruction.

The vote of West Virginia in past years is given below. It will be noticed that in October, 1858, the Republican majority for Governor was 8,611 smaller than for President in November following. In October, 1872, the Democratic majority for Governor was 1,148, and the Republican majority on the congressional vote was 958; two months later the Republican majority over all for President was 21,008. In 1872 the Democrats elected only the Governor and Superintendent of Public Instruction.

The vote of West Virginia in past years is given below. It will be noticed that in October, 1858, the Republican majority for Governor was 8,611 smaller than for President in November following. In October, 1872, the Democratic majority for Governor was 1,148, and the Republican majority on the congressional vote was 958; two months later the Republican majority over all for President was 21,008. In 1872 the Democrats elected only the Governor and Superintendent of Public Instruction.

The vote of West Virginia in past years is given below. It will be noticed that in October, 1858, the Republican majority for Governor was 8,611 smaller than for President in November following. In October, 1872, the Democratic majority for Governor was 1,148, and the Republican majority on the congressional vote was 958; two months later the Republican majority over all for President was 21,008. In 1872 the Democrats elected only the Governor and Superintendent of Public Instruction.

The vote of West Virginia in past years is given below. It will be noticed that in October, 1858, the Republican majority for Governor was 8,611 smaller than for President in November following. In October, 1872, the Democratic majority for Governor was 1,148, and the Republican majority on the congressional vote was 958; two months later the Republican majority over all for President was 21,008. In 1872 the Democrats elected only the Governor and Superintendent of Public Instruction.

The vote of West Virginia in past years is given below. It will be noticed that in October, 1858, the Republican majority for Governor was 8,611 smaller than for President in November following. In October, 1872, the Democratic majority for Governor was 1,148, and the Republican majority on the congressional vote was 958; two months later the Republican majority over all for President was 21,008. In 1872 the Democrats elected only the Governor and Superintendent of Public Instruction.

The vote of West Virginia in past years is given below. It will be noticed that in October, 1858, the Republican majority for Governor was 8,611 smaller than for President in November following. In October, 1872, the Democratic majority for Governor was 1,148, and the Republican majority on the congressional vote was 958; two months later the Republican majority over all for President was 21,008. In 1872 the Democrats elected only the Governor and Superintendent of Public Instruction.

The vote of West Virginia in past years is given below. It will be noticed that in October, 1858, the Republican majority for Governor was 8,611 smaller than for President in November following. In October, 1872, the Democratic majority for Governor was 1,148, and the Republican majority on the congressional vote was 958; two months later the Republican majority over all for President was 21,008. In 1872 the Democrats elected only the Governor and Superintendent of Public Instruction.

The vote of West Virginia in past years is given below. It will be noticed that in October, 1858, the Republican majority for Governor was 8,611 smaller than for President in November following. In October, 1872, the Democratic majority for Governor was 1,148, and the Republican majority on the congressional vote was 958; two months later the Republican majority over all for President was 21,008. In 1872 the Democrats elected only the Governor and Superintendent of Public Instruction.

The vote of West Virginia in past years is given below. It will be noticed that in October, 1858, the Republican majority for Governor was 8,611 smaller than for President in November following. In October, 1872, the Democratic majority for Governor was 1,148, and the Republican majority on the congressional vote was 958; two months later the Republican majority over all for President was 21,008. In 1872 the Democrats elected only the Governor and Superintendent of Public Instruction.

The vote of West Virginia in past years is given below. It will be noticed that in October, 1858, the Republican majority for Governor was 8,611 smaller than for President in November following. In October, 1872, the Democratic majority for Governor was 1,148, and the Republican majority on the congressional vote was 958; two months later the Republican majority over all for President was 21,008. In 1872 the Democrats elected only the Governor and Superintendent of Public Instruction.

The vote of West Virginia in past years is given below. It will be noticed that in October, 1858, the Republican majority for Governor was 8,611 smaller than for President in November following. In October, 1872, the Democratic majority for Governor was 1,148, and the Republican majority on the congressional vote was 958; two months later the Republican majority over all for President was 21,008. In 1872 the Democrats elected only the Governor and Superintendent of Public Instruction.

The vote of West Virginia in past years is given below. It will be noticed that in October, 1858, the Republican majority for Governor was 8,611 smaller than for President in November following. In October, 1872, the Democratic majority for Governor was 1,148, and the Republican majority on the congressional vote was 958; two months later the Republican majority over all for President was 21,008. In 1872 the Democrats elected only the Governor and Superintendent of Public Instruction.

The vote of West Virginia in past years is given below. It will be noticed that in October, 1858, the Republican majority for Governor was 8,611 smaller than for President in November following. In October, 1872, the Democratic majority for Governor was 1,148, and the Republican majority on the congressional vote was 958; two months later the Republican majority over all for President was 21,008. In 1872 the Democrats elected only the Governor and Superintendent of Public Instruction.

The vote of West Virginia in past years is given below. It will be noticed that in October, 1858, the Republican majority for Governor was 8,611 smaller than for President in November following. In October, 1872, the Democratic majority for Governor was 1,148, and the Republican majority on the congressional vote was 958; two months later the Republican majority over all for President was 21,008. In 1872 the Democrats elected only the Governor and Superintendent of Public Instruction.

The vote of West Virginia in past years is given below. It will be noticed that in October, 1858, the Republican majority for Governor was 8,611 smaller than for President in November following. In October, 1872, the Democratic majority for Governor was 1,148, and the Republican majority on the congressional vote was 958; two months later the Republican majority over all for President was 21,008. In 1872 the Democrats elected only the Governor and Superintendent of Public Instruction.

The vote of West Virginia in past years is given below. It will be noticed that in October, 1858, the Republican majority for Governor was 8,611 smaller than for President in November following. In October, 1872, the Democratic majority for Governor was 1,148, and the Republican majority on the congressional vote was 958; two months later the Republican majority over all for President was 21,008. In 1872 the Democrats elected only the Governor and Superintendent of Public Instruction.

The vote of West Virginia in past years is given below. It will be noticed that in October, 1858, the Republican majority for Governor was 8,611 smaller than for President in November following. In October, 1872, the Democratic majority for Governor was 1,148, and the Republican majority on the congressional vote was 958; two months later the Republican majority over all for President was 21,008. In 1872 the Democrats elected only the Governor and Superintendent of Public Instruction.

The vote of West Virginia in past years is given below. It will be noticed that in October, 1858, the Republican majority for Governor was 8,611 smaller than for President in November following. In October, 1872, the Democratic majority for Governor was 1,148, and the Republican majority on the congressional vote was 958; two months later the Republican majority over all for President was 21,008. In 1872 the Democrats elected only the Governor and Superintendent of Public Instruction.

The vote of West Virginia in past years is given below. It will be noticed that in October, 1858, the Republican majority for Governor was 8,611 smaller than for President in November following. In October, 1872, the Democratic majority for Governor was 1,148, and the Republican majority on the congressional vote was 958; two months later the Republican majority over all for President was 21,008. In 1872 the Democrats elected only the Governor and Superintendent of Public Instruction.

The vote of West Virginia in past years is given below. It will be noticed that in October, 1858, the Republican majority for Governor was 8,611 smaller than for President in November following. In October, 1872, the Democratic majority for Governor was 1,148, and the Republican majority on the congressional vote was 958; two months later the Republican majority over all for President was 21,008. In 1872 the Democrats elected only the Governor and Superintendent of Public Instruction.

The vote of West Virginia in past years is given below. It will be noticed that in October, 1858, the Republican majority for Governor was 8,611 smaller than for President in November following. In October, 1872, the Democratic majority for Governor was 1,148, and the Republican majority on the congressional vote was 958; two months later the Republican majority over all for President was 21,008. In 1872 the Democrats elected only the Governor and Superintendent of Public Instruction.

The vote of West Virginia in past years is given below. It will be noticed that in October, 1858, the Republican majority for Governor was 8,611 smaller than for President in November following. In October, 1872, the Democratic majority for Governor was 1,148, and the Republican majority on the congressional vote was 958; two months later the Republican majority over all for President was 21,008. In 1872 the Democrats elected only the Governor and Superintendent of Public Instruction.

The vote of West Virginia in past years is given below. It will be noticed that in October, 1858, the Republican majority for Governor was 8,611 smaller than for President in November following. In October, 1872, the Democratic majority for Governor was 1,148, and the Republican majority on the congressional vote was 958; two months later the Republican majority over all for President was 21,008. In 1872 the Democrats elected only the Governor and Superintendent of Public Instruction.

The vote of West Virginia in past years is given below. It will be noticed that in October, 1858, the Republican majority for Governor was 8,611 smaller than for President in November following. In October, 1872, the Democratic majority for Governor was 1,148, and the Republican majority on the congressional vote was 958; two months later the Republican majority over all for President was 21,008. In 1872 the Democrats elected only the Governor and Superintendent of Public Instruction.

The vote of West Virginia in past years is given below. It will be noticed that in October, 1858, the Republican majority for Governor was 8,611 smaller than for President in November following. In October, 1872, the Democratic majority for Governor was 1,148, and the Republican majority on the congressional vote was 958; two months later the Republican majority over all for President was 21,008. In 1872 the Democrats elected only the Governor and Superintendent of Public Instruction.

The vote of West Virginia in past years is given below. It will be noticed that in October, 1858, the Republican majority for Governor was 8,611 smaller than for President in November following. In October, 1872, the Democratic majority for Governor was 1,148, and the Republican majority on the congressional vote was 958; two months later the Republican majority over all for President was 21,008. In 1872 the Democrats elected only the Governor and Superintendent of Public Instruction.

The vote of West Virginia in past years is given below. It will be noticed that in October, 1858, the Republican majority for Governor was 8,611 smaller than for President in November following. In October, 1872, the Democratic majority for Governor was 1,148, and the Republican majority on the congressional vote was 958; two months later the Republican majority over all for President was 21,008. In 1872 the Democrats elected only the Governor and Superintendent of Public Instruction.

The vote of West Virginia in past years is given below. It will be noticed that in October, 1858, the Republican majority for Governor was 8,611 smaller than for President in November following. In October, 1872, the Democratic majority for Governor was 1,148, and the Republican majority on the congressional vote was 958; two months later the Republican majority over all for President was 21,008. In 1872 the Democrats elected only the Governor and Superintendent of Public Instruction.

The vote of West Virginia in past years is given below. It will be noticed that in October, 1858, the Republican majority for Governor was 8,611 smaller than for President in November following. In October, 1872, the Democratic majority for Governor was 1,148, and the Republican majority on the congressional vote was 958; two months later the Republican majority over all for President was 21,008. In 1872 the Democrats elected only the Governor and Superintendent of Public Instruction.

The vote of West Virginia in past years is given below. It will be noticed that in October, 1858, the Republican majority for Governor was 8,611 smaller than for President in November following. In October, 1872, the Democratic majority for Governor was 1,148, and the Republican majority on the congressional vote was 958; two months later the Republican majority over all for President was 21,008. In 1872 the Democrats elected only the Governor and Superintendent of Public Instruction.

The vote of West Virginia in past years is given below. It will be noticed that in October, 1858, the Republican majority for Governor was 8,611 smaller than for President in November following. In October, 1872, the Democratic majority for Governor was 1,148, and the Republican majority on the congressional vote was 958; two months later the Republican majority over all for President was 21,008. In 1872 the Democrats elected only the Governor and Superintendent of Public Instruction.

suppose that a northern man with a scintilla of a claim against the Government would fail to present it, and to make it as large as possible? They know their neighbors too well to suppose any such thing. Did the Tribune see any peculiar devotion to Government claims in the South as compared with the North when Greeley was running for the presidency? It is absurd for these men to affect to believe that the southern people would make a raid upon the Federal treasury after the war, and after it was exhausted by the northern contractors and corrupt rings. The southern people are innocent of any such movement. The men who have chiefly made it are probably of the very type of the gentlemen who are using this hypocritical device—"loyal" men, who have greater hopes from Radical rule than from Democratic.

Well, let the knaves make the most of their rascalities. In time they'll "Get their fair share." "In hell" they'll be "roasted like a herring."

England and Turkey.

Thread-needle street now rules England. The Turkish bondholders gave a powerful bias to English policy in the East. The old jealousy of Russia and the greed for acquisition have their weight; but the fear of the ruin of Turkish credit and the entire loss of the British money invested in Turkish bonds has equally as great a weight. England is a most considerate mother to her people, and she logically sees that the loss of private property is hurtful to the nation, as it diminishes the general wealth. She has therefore no idea of permitting the ruin of Turkish credit if she can prevent it.

Against these influences the still, small voice of humanity, and the sympathies with Christianity and the pity for the outraged and barbarously-persecuted Christians in the Turkish provinces, exert but a feeble power. Nevertheless, England must seem to do something in the way of humanity, and so she continues to palaver with Turkey. To be entirely silent would be detrimental to her position as a party to European policy and European balance of power, and to turn a deaf ear to the appeals of the suffering and persecuted Christians would be scandalous to her reputation as a Christian and civilized State. So she keeps her ambassador to the Sublime Porte constantly interviewing that peculiar political embodiment. All her suggestions look, of course, to the continuation of the Turkish power in Europe, when all reflecting and fair-minded men know that there can be no peace in the East until the Turks are driven beyond the Bosphorus. But that would send the Turkish power to the maelstrom of all lost and irrecoverable things, which would hurt the English heart more than it is hurt by Turkish inhumanities and barbarisms.

So England has to keep doing something. Her last communication to the Turk is sharp. She wants a Christian commander over the provinces to "right wrongs and redress grievances." She had previously informed the "turbulent Turk" that if he did not hearken to her suggestions she would withdraw her support from him.

England is evidently in a quandary. She likes the state of things. The taciturnity of Germany and Austria and the immigration into Turkey in Europe of multitudes of Russians disturb her greatly, and she is in haste to settle matters in some quiet way and thus prevent war. Hence the idea of infusing a little Christianity into the Government of the provinces—a sort of rule she would regard as providential. It won't do. Christian discontent cannot be silenced by any English patching policy. Sooner or later the Turk must take up his bed and walk. From present appearances this event is probably not far off; and the occupation of Constantinople by Russia is by no means an impossible occurrence. And then England, without an ally, what will she do about it?

"The Path of Safety."—The New York Tribune (Greeley) in 1872, and anti-Administration ever since) objects to the Democrats because they fight to turn out all Radicals, thus, it says, punishing the innocent along with the guilty. For this reason it recommends as the "path of safety" the election of the Radical ticket, by which all of them, guilty and innocent, will be kept in! The double-faced Tribune pretends not to see that the contest is between parties, and the victors party must control the Government. The Radical side runs Hayes, and the money used to promote his election is furnished in a greater degree, in proportion to means, by the office-holders than by any other class of the Radical party. If elected, can Hayes turn these people out? To them he will owe his election. He can't eject them. The office-holders are essentially the Radical party. "Path of safety," indeed! It is Radical advice in order to continue misrule and official corruption.

President Grant says that a "solid South" can only be secured by the "shot-gun" policy. A great mistake. It is already secured by his "bayonet" policy. The suggestion of the "shot-gun" is merely a pretext for the more "bayonet" policy. The wretched Administration has made a solid South by its usurpations and persecutions; and now we have the lying pretext for more persecution. So the lamb muddled the stream above where he drank to the great annoyance of the exemplary wolf.

Colonel Henry K. Peyton, of Virginia, was announced to speak in Ohio, at Columbus, Saturday evening, October 7th; Hillsboro, Monday evening, October 9th. Colonel Peyton is a fine speaker.

To P. D. C. Danville: The Capitalist died occurred April 28, 1870. The burning of the Spotswood Hotel took place December 24, 1870.

Editorial Dispatch: Will you please explain to a reader of your paper what is meant by "Virginia day" in the Centennial? By so doing you will greatly oblige more than one who would like to know.

WEST END.

There will be no "Virginia day" at the Centennial. New York had a day, Pennsylvania another, Texas another, and so on down a long list. The State concerned has just such a celebration as her representatives choose to have; and each State tries to send on her day a large number of visitors from her own borders. Pennsylvania day and New York day were, of course, the most popular. The scheme is, we suppose, merely a plan for increasing the receipts of the exhibition.

Mr. GREEN NOMINATED FOR MAYOR OF NEW YORK.—New York, October 8.—A large meeting was held at the Cooper Institute last night in response to a call issued to elect the Mayor of New York. The speakers, in order of their views in regard to national and State politics, and in favor of Andrew H. Green for Mayor, Henry A. Crane presided. Speeches were made by Colonel Rush, C. Hawkins, Oswald Ottendorfer, and Norman B. Eaton in favor of municipal reform.

reforms. Resolutions were adopted nominating Mr. Green for the office of Mayor. A committee was appointed to tender nomination to him and take measures to promote his election.

[This is the man we desired to see nominated for Governor.]

SOUTH CAROLINA.—Columbia, S. C., October 8.—The State Democratic Executive Committee has issued an address denouncing Governor Chamberlain's recent proclamation as unwarranted by law and facts, and as issued to furnish a pretext for asking for troops. In response to a letter from General Hampton, Chief-Justice Moses says he knows no nobles to lead him to conclude that South Carolina is an armed camp, or that any arm is needed more potent than the law. Associate Justice Willard and Judges Mackey and Cooke (Republicans) have written a letter denying the proclamation. Mackey charges Chamberlain with conspiracy against a free ballot.

INDIANA.—How to Count.—The Tribune says the returns telegraphed will be compared with those of 1874, when the vote for Secretary of State was as follows:

Democratic	162,154
Republican	162,902
Democratic majority	748

THE AMERICAN ALLIANCE.—THE SECRETARY RESIGNS.—Cincinnati, October 8.—The resignation of Lemuel S. Tyler, secretary of the American Alliance, dated August 25th, was accepted yesterday. The name of his successor will be announced on Wednesday.

DEATHS.

Died, on Saturday night at half-past 7 o'clock, at his residence, on Twenty-fifth street, Mr. R. F. CARTER, late of New Kent County. He was fifty-three years of age.

IN MEMORIAM.

Among the lamented deaths from the fearful scourge which is desolating our allied city that of the late Colonel EDWARD C. ANDERSON, Jr., is recorded with the profoundest regret—was born to his family on the 15th of March, 1822, and died on the 27th of August, 1876, at the age of fifty-four years, eight months and twenty days. The deceased had previously called for one of the household, and in the fragrance of her beautifully developed childhood a beloved daughter was yielded to the tender arms of the deceased, who had made the slither slide to become acquainted with the decease of the widow and the sorrows of the orphan. How deep those sorrows, how dear that consolation, they best can appreciate who have known the loss of a child, and the sorrows of the orphan. How deep those sorrows, how dear that consolation, they best can appreciate who have known the loss of a child, and the sorrows of the orphan.

A FULL LINE OF CHARLOTTESVILLE CASSIMERES and other good makes.

COMPLETELY-MADE COLORED-FRONT WASHINGTON COTTON DRESS-SHIRTS

AT 41 APEICE.

RECOLLECT

LEVY BROTHERS STORE

IS CLOSED TO-DAY.

BUT IN FUTURE WILL BE OPENED REGULARLY EVERY DAY.

SATURDAY EXCEPTED.

MEETINGS.

MASONIC NOTICE.—The members of ST. JOHN'S LODGE, No. 36, A. A. M., are requested to attend a stated communication held on Broad street, THIS (Tuesday) EVENING at 6 o'clock. All master masons in good standing are invited to attend by order of the W. M. WALTER MOORE, Secretary.

October 10th, A. L. 5870, A. L. 1876. cc 10-14

VIRGINIA LODGE, No. 2, K. of G. is held at 7 o'clock, at Pythian Hall. The last opportunity in which to pay dues is this evening at 7 o'clock. All members in good standing are invited to attend by order of the W. M. WALTER MOORE, Secretary.

October 10th, A. L. 5870, A. L. 1876. cc 10-14

NOTICE.—The regular monthly meeting of the RICHMOND PERPETUAL BUILDING, LOAN AND TRUST COMPANY will be held on this evening at 7 o'clock, at the Pythian Hall. Dues will be received during the day at the office, and new shares can be had without the payment of back dues.

WILLIAM LOVENSTEIN, Cashier.

cc 10-11

AMUSEMENTS.

RICHMOND THEATRE.

PROFESSOR J. B. ROBERTS'S GRAND ART ENTERTAINMENTS.

Moral, instructive, and Literary.

WEDNESDAY EVENING, OCTOBER 11th.

ROME THE ETERNAL CITY.

THURSDAY—ITALY THE ART LAND.

FRIDAY—EGYPT, TURKEY, AND INDIA.

Grand Matinee SATURDAY at 2 o'clock.

Scale of Prices: Admission, 25c., or six tickets.

cc 10-14

VIRGINIA OPERA-HOUSE.